

Brainwashed - Adult Swim and Stones Throw announce album project

Written by Chris Roberts

Thursday, 13 April 2006 14:27 - Last Updated Thursday, 13 April 2006 18:37

After the success of last fall's Danger Doom album, Adult Swim is planning another foray into hip-hop — this time partnered with independent label Stones Throw.

The still-untitled record is slated to drop Sept. 19, and will include new Madvillian cuts, more collaborative work from Madlib and the late J. Dilla, as well as performances from (pretty much) the entire Stones Throw stable.

No word yet on content or concept, but like Brainwashed, Stones Throw is celebrating its 10th year in existence, and the record is intended to be part of the appropriate festivities. Hey, Jon! Can we get Madvillian at Brainwaves....?