Boston's Thalia Zedek has over two decades of recording and performing experience under her belt. She's played and sung for numerous bands including White Women, Dangerous Birds, Uzi, Live Skull, and Come, and is now set for her third release as Thalia Zedek. Trust Not Those In Whom Without Some Touch of Madness was recorded at Godspeed You Black Emperor's Hotel2Tango studio in Montréal and will be released on Thrill Jockey this fall. (Other Godspotters might recognize her name along with violist David Currie as being infrequent members of Montréal's Molasses too.)
