

Brainwashed - Matmos

Written by Jon Whitney

Thursday, 26 January 2006 19:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 18 June 2013 08:15

After all these years we are excited to present an Eye on musical innovators, Brainwashed family members, and close friends, Matmos. We caught them at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, months before their full-length album The Rose Has Teeth in the Mouth of a Beast was released. We talk about things like snails, Coil, dragging pianos across the desert, and other fun stuff. Plus, you'll get to hear music from the new album! Special thanks to Dan Hirsch and the Museum of Fine Arts.