It's strange to discover a singer/songwriter and find out after over a year of listening that they're local. It was a pleasure to spend time with Marissa Nadler, a fantastic and talented guitarist, singer, and songwriter. In this episode of The Eye, we spend some time at WZBC and Marissa performs a few pieces for us which broadcast live on air. We also talk about Songs III: Bird on the Water, her latest record, David Tibet, and other things.
