

Brainwashed - Charalambides

Written by Jon Whitney

Friday, 28 April 2006 19:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 18 June 2013 08:11

Tom and Christina Carter are on tour again and they have a new album out on Kranky, Likeness. This footage was captured at Terrastock 6. Here, they prove they're not a quiet band as Tom and Christina each break a string during their intense set. (They seemed willing to keep playing until there were no more strings left on their instruments!) We sit down with Tom Carter this time (there's already an interview with Christina Carter on another episode of The Eye) to talk about life transformations, location changes, and band evolution.